Lucy is a happy-go-lucky person, but with the added grace of no small modicum of common sense. Lucy has never been troubled by classroom difficulties. If difficulties are present in the classroom, they somehow are left behind when Lucy leaves the room. We do not know what you are aspiring to, but we have enjoyed your good-humored companionship for two years. Take along with you the knowledge that we will miss you and that we wish you good luck.

Because Doris did not live on the campus her first two years, most of us found it hard to become intimately acquainted with her. But after she decided to come and live on the campus at the beginning of the junior year, we discovered a modest but winning personality. Vocationally, Doris' major work will be in teaching English, but we wonder if her ability to play the violin will not be of equal credit.

DOROTHY LUCILLE BAKER
ZEBULON, N. C.

A.B. Philaretian

Dorothy is quiet and reserved. Her carefree manner attracts all those who know her. But those who admire Dot's "way" are not limited to those on the campus. She has a "way" with Wake Forest boys that many of us are almost inclined to envy. But such a characteristic does not mean that she cannot do well with other types of work, for she has shown this in her volunteer work in the Baptist Student Union.

EVELYN IRENE BALLANCE

A.B. Astrotekton

Alliance Francaise, 1; B. Y. P. U. Officer, 1;

Evelyn slipped into our class quietly and unobtrusively. Even in the midst of the most terrific freshman storms she went very calmly about her work. And we shall not forget that her optimism makes this coveted manner possible. We remember too that your course in "home ec" and your ability to sew makes you "quite in demand" among our superiors. We hear that several of them are indebted to you for their becoming costumes. Our hat's off to you, Evelyn!

Maybelle's college record reads thus—Pineland, 1, 2; Meredith, 3, 4. We wish you could have been with us all four years, Maybelle. You impress us with your poise and self-control, and we think how much your sincere and yet tactful manner will aid in your teaching. There are those of us who wonder, Maybelle, if there is any significance in the fact that in your senior year you spent your leisure time "doing fancy work."

EDITH MAE BOWDEN
BURLINGTON, N. C.

A.B. Astrotekton

Elon College, 1, 2; Wake Forest Summer School, 3; May Day Attendant, 3; Y. W. A. Officer, 4; Chief Astrotekton Society Marshal, 4.

May we introduce Miss Edith Bowden of Burlington? Lovely gracefulness is characteristic of her. You didn't enter Meredith until your junior year, but it didn't take us long to learn that you are attractive, fun-loving, and modern, and that you have along with all your other good qualities a great deal of common sense. We remember too that a frequent visitor to the college parlors realizes these qualities also. It's been fun knowing you, Edith.

ELIZABETH BRANTLEY
SPRING HOPE, N. C.

A.B. Astrotekton

Lib hesitated for a whole year before entering the gates of Meredith. During her hesitation, she attended Greensboro College. We're glad she came to us at last, for she has been a real friend and an addition to our class. Lib is cool and amazingly collected. We hope she will always retain that calm attitude when she emerges out into the wide, wide world.

MINNIE BROOKS
GREENVILLE, N. C.

A.B. Astrotekton

Mars Hill College, 1, 2; Mars Hill Club, 3, 4; Y. W. A., 3; B. Y. P. U. Officer, 3, 4; Class Basketball, 3; Official Chaperone, 4.

Confident that Mars Hill was reluctant in giving her up, Meredith welcomed Minnie Brooks to the class of '35 in our junior year. She has surely won our confidence, for in her senior year she has been chosen as one of the official chaperones. From the first we knew that she, with her natural manner, fitted into our life at Meredith. She has, too, a delight in which few of those of the class of '35 can participate—she enjoys delving into the mysteries of mathematics.

We have found from the first that Alice isn't one of those persons who puts studies first, extra-curricular activities second, and recreation third; but one who has a place for all. What a happy lot college girls would be if they each had this gift! In all these activities your attitude toward it all seems to be wholesome pleasure. It is such as you, Alice, that we are glad to see leading in our religious work.

Norine, your slant on life seems different from that of most of us. You enter into everything you do with your whole being.
That's one reason why we admire you so much. And that amused smile that greets us when we dash to the "Bee Hive" for an "ice

Vernie might wonder how we found out this about her, but sincerity is a trait that one does not conceal. If Vernie didn't know the name of a Shakespeare character or didn't enjoy one of Shakespeare's Histories, she didn't seek to hide the error or the opinion.
None of those who know Vernie can fail to realize that she recognizes the importance of developing her social nature; there are few times when she does not have time for a chat with a friend.

Virginia! The very name of that state conjures in our minds thoughts of Margaret—a busy, hurrying, friendly, kind, and inquiring person. We have learned, after you have been with us a while, that life to you is a glorious, exciting game. We're reminded that part of the game this year was a week-end at "Georgia Tec." Because of your preciseness, your deliberateness, Margaret, you have made a success of your work here.

RALEIGH, N. C.

A.B.

Philaretian

Peace Junior College, 1, 2; International Relations Club, 4; Colton English Club, 4; Advertising Manager OAK LEAVES, 4; Chief Philaretian Marshal, 4.

Sarah's poise, friendliness, and her manner which is "just reserved enough," will be of great help to her in her work, just as they have helped her win friends at school. We are sure that she will do outstanding work as a social worker. We have seen a sample of her work in her activities in the International Relations Club. Her adjusting her work in transferring from another college here is evidence of her adaptable nature.

Geechie's sincerity and friendliness have endeared her to the hearts of many. Such basic qualities, combined with her individual social ease, contribute toward the making up of a well rounded personality. Her interpretation and appreciation of music are a source of inspiration for others.

SARA CRABTREE
RALEIGH, N. C.

A.B. Philaretian

Peace Junior College, 1, 2; International Relations Club, 4; Business Manager of the Handbook, 4.

Sara is surely among the most popular "town girls" of the Class of '35. She leaves us with an impressive record, for we will not only remember her intelligent scholastic work but the unusual attraction she has for all of us. A smile, a laugh, a wave, nothing but good for everyone—all these spell Sara's personality. We are confident that she will be welcomed wherever she goes, for there is something about all of us that makes us admire a natural and frank, yet pleasing person.

EVELYN WOODY CRUTCHFIELD
WOODSDALE, N. C.

A.B.

Barber Biology Club, 1, 2, 3, 4; B. Y. P. U. Officer, 2; Y. W. A.; Sunday School Officer; Colton English Club, 3, 4; Honor Roll, 1, 2, 3; International Relations Club, 4; Student League of Women Voters; Kappa Nu Sigma Honor Society, 4; Senior Editor of the Acorn, 4.

It is hard to give a word-portrait of Evelyn. She is a personality to be studied. With her interests, both broad and deep in social, intellectual, and religious life, she has taken something with her after her four years in college by which to continue her education. In our attempt to give a word-portrait, "Ev," we are reminded of your social ease and grace.

S E N I O R

MARGARET PRIESTLEY DAVIS
WAKE FOREST, N. C.

A.B.

Astrotekton

Barber Biology Club, 1, 2, 3, 4; Town Girls' Club, 1; Granddaughters' Club, 1, 2, 3, 4; Stunt, 1, 2, 4; Colton English Club, 3, 4; Wake Forest College Summer School, 2, 3; Twig Reporter, 2; May Day Attendant, 2; President Astrotekton Society, 4; Nominating Committee, 4; Class Superlative, 4.

Wake Forest awakened one morning to find one of its most valuable young women gone, and Meredith awakened to find that young woman in her midst. The girl was none other than Margaret Davis. Now everyone says of Margaret "but we can't describe her without mentioning her undaunted smile." Perhaps her smile helped to win her a place in the Senior Superlatives!

C L A S S

MARION HAYES EDWARDS
MULLINS, S. C.

A.B. Philaretian

Columbia College, 1; B. Y. P. U., 2, 3, 4; B. Y. P. U. Officer, 3; Y. W. A., 2, 3, 4; South Carolina Club, 2, 3, 4; Wake Forest Summer School, 3; Student League of Women Voters, 4; Home Economics Club, 2, 3; Vice-President Home Economics Club, 4; Service Band, 4.

Quietly and deliberately Marion has gone about her work and has accomplished it well. We do not know what she is planning to do, now that this glorious adventure of college is over, but we do know that she'll succeed in being whatever she decides to be, whether it is "school-marm," business woman, or something else.

GARNETT EIGHME
RALEIGH, N. C.

A.B. Astratektion

Peace Junior College, 1, 2; Town Girls' Club, 3, 4; Advertising Manager OAK LEAVES, 3; Editor Handbook, 4.

Garnett rides out to Meredith every morning, since graduating from Peace and living in the same city with this college is not enough to satisfy her intellectual curiosity. And you seem to bring with you a bit of sunshine and a breath of joyousness, Garnett. We can see you fitting into the role of an elementary teacher with a great deal of success! Carry your love of fun and sense of humor on to others, whatever you choose.

MARGARET LUCILE EVANS

STAATESVILLE, N. C.

A.B.

Philaretian

Mitchell College, 1, 2; Colton English Club, 3, 4; Y. W. A., 3, 4; B. Y. P. U., 3, 4; Officer B. Y. P. U., 4.

Lucile has been with us for only two years, but in that time she has completely won our hearts. Loyalty and sincerity are the key-notes of her character. With these qualities there is combined an indomitable will that carries things to a finish. A flair for arguing gives her conversation a fresh liveliness that is delightful. Wherever she goes, Lucile will be a loyal friend, a thorough student, and a discerning thinker.

SENIOR

ESTELLE FARRIS

RALEIGH, N. C.

A.B.

Philaretian

Town Girls' Club, 1, 2, 3, 4; Home Economics Club, 1, 4; Student League of Women Voters, 4.

If we judge Estelle by the work of her two sisters in the preceding class, we find that she has not only measured up to them but has made a record which may also be used as a standard. All who know her agree that her interests are many and varied—social, intellectual, and domestic. With these interests and with her own personality she has attracted many friends, although she has not lived at the college. Her work in the Home Economics Department has proved her most capable.

May we present Miss Hazel Faulkner, our cheer leader this year. This title has a deeper significance than one would realize, more than just an office, for Hazel is really a "cheer leader in our class." Hazel, you are always ready for fun. There is always an idea in the "back of your head" for something to do that will raise the "spirits" of the crowd.

MAMIE LOU FORNEY

We thought our class was complete until Mamie Lou came along our junior year. Then we wondered what we ever did without her! Your dramatic achievements add greatly to the prestige of our class, Mamie Lou. We expect to see your name in big white lights some day.

ELBERTA JOYNER FOSTER
LITTLETON, N. C.

A.B. Astrotekton

Twig Reporter, 1, 2; Art Editor of Acorn, 2, 3; Editor of Acorn, 4; Barber Biology Club, 1, 2, 3, 4; Dramatic Club, 1, 2, 3, 4; Class Treasurer, 2; Track, 2; Cheer Leader, 2; Colton English Club, 3, 4; Classical Club, 2.

Bert certainly deserves her reputation for being the most original girl in our class. She delights in pranks which puzzle and tease her chums. We are compelled to say, however, that her original nature succeeds in charming everyone. Whenever we see her, she always has to finish a book of poems, write a paper, make a poster, or do a little sketching. In spite of this, she is always ready for fun.

Officer, 1, 2; Le Cercle Francaise, 4; Student League of Women Voters, 3, 4; President Student League of Women Voters, 4; Colton English Club, 4; Stunt, 2, 3, 4.

Evelyn is one of those persons who is so quiet that one would never know she was busy if her achievements did not speak so well for her. In a simple statement, we may say that Evelyn has proved her worth, and not exaggerate at all. In her calm manner there are frankness and a sincerity that will surely lead her toward a life of influence and success.

Sarah is another girl who came to us from Mars Hill College. From the day she arrived at Meredith she has done faithful and persistent work in our Baptist Student Union and is one of the girls who attended the convention out in Memphis this year. We hear that there they not only got a lot of work done but had a good time too.

ANNIE GLADYS FREEMAN
WENDELL, N. C.

A.B. Philaretian

Gladys didn't come to us until after she had begun her college career. But we didn't need even two years to learn that Gladys has a personality we will always remember. Always cheerful and friendly, always gay and happy—that is Gladys! Then, too, Gladys can do what few of us can, "burrow" into a math problem and find real joy in the "doing." Not only has Gladys a great interest in mathematics, but she is endowed with the gift of being a true friend. Her careful judgment and her deeply rooted, bubbling sense of humor have not only helped to drive away our blues but have caused us to hold her high in our admiration.

Caroline has had an advantage during her four years at Meredith that few of our class have. She is a Raleigh girl, but lives in the dormitory. It is unnecessary to remind you what this has meant to her. Yes, we agree with you that she is socially minded. No wonder she possesses an ever present gift of pep and vitality. Caroline's support of social affairs carries with it the ability to do other types of work with little effort. What argues most for her future—we hear she is an extremely capable "biologist."

Carolyn is one of those who come to our minds at once when we think of attractive additions to our class our junior year. Her practical turn of mind is the envy of many of us. Carolyn, you have made us realize that even the writing of a term paper can be almost a recreation. And when right in the midst of a serious rendition of one of those papers, you, in your free manner, sang to the dignified and reserved Senior History Class the line from an opera which was jazzed in one period of American history, we were ready to take our hats off to you for your naturalness, ease, and originality.

We have several members of our class who are rather quiet and reserved, but of none of those have we learned more than of Mary Lee. Mary Lee has an easy-going nature which makes her easy to get along with. She is active and persevering in her every undertaking—and this spirit has been particularly evident in her class work. We can't forget that her name appeared in the Twig with the five "A" students for the fall of 1934.

She has a gracious manner, a kind disposition, a persistent spirit, and a sincere heart. We suppose Mozelle will become a teacher. At any rate we must add, anyone with her attitude just has to get along.

This is "Mary G." We cannot refrain from beginning her description with a note as to her patience. Mary G., you have an eagerness, and with it patience, that we all admire. We shall remember you as you are at those "ten o'clock" class meetings, honest and frank and always standing for that that you believe in, even if you stand alone. It's such a spirit that is needed in many places to "push things along." We're wishing you the best of luck!

Dixie Sorrell is one of the town students from Cary. She isn't on the campus long, only during class hours, but even then she brightens up the campus with her smile and consideration of others. And when you lean out of your car and yell "Want a ride to town?" nothing can look better to us. We are always hearing of your good work in "Home Ec," and we wish you could be on the campus to help in our student activities.

Virginia entered Meredith her sophomore year. From the first, thoughts of her have carried with them a picture of an attractive and unusual appearance. We would describe her as having something of the quaint of the old and something of the gayety of the modern. We all would say of her, "There is about her a lovely gracefulness." Such an appearance makes a personality that we just love having around.

To Kinston, North Carolina, Meredith owes thanks for sending us Bertha Mae. From our freshman year Bert began to forge to the very forefront in the estimation of all her associates. Her constant readiness to help anyone when help is needed, her sunny disposition, and her sincerity strengthens with each year our estimate of her.

Madge, at first we thought you were so reserved and quiet that we shouldn't know you well; but we have learned that, in spite of your reserve, you are delightful and interesting as a conversationalist. Although you weren't with us for your first two years, we're glad you at last found your way to Meredith.

FROM A JUNIOR'S DIARY

September 30—There is always a certain thrill about returning to Meredith, no matter how grand the vacation has been. But this year I had a new thrill—a thrill in the form of a "Little Sister". . . . I hope the Freshmen enjoyed the circus party we gave them half as much as we did. I'm sure they're going to like the president we selected.

October 21—October is like a calm after the storm. We always begin getting down to work after two continuous weeks of grumbling about "the worst schedule anyone ever had." . . . Decision Day was almost as exciting this year as it was our freshman year, for our Little Sisters had to decide the Great Question. "To be or not to be?" Phi or Astro? Purple or Gold?

November 30—The calm was short lived, for the Event of events, the Day of days came with all of its thrills and joys, hopes and disappointments. . . . Yes, we lost the stunt cup again—but don't think I'm bragging when I say, "I still think it was a good stunt." But that's the way with Puppet Love, it never seems half so good to anyone else as to the participants.

December 31—This has been one month when all thoughts have been as one. The beauty of the Christmas Concert and the fun of caroling at 5:00 a.m., just added to the big thrill of—Christmas Holidays and Home!

January 31—The worst of it is, now that I'm back, I can't seem to remember I've ever been away. The only bit of silver in my sky is that exams are over, and it's four long months before we have them again.

February 28—Basketball was especially good this year, but I know the game the Juniors will never forget was the one with our Little Sisters. What a scare they gave us. One more point and they would have ruined that perfect record of ours.

March 31—Excitement and curiosity run hand in hand when it comes to student elections—especially when the major officers come from one's own class. It makes me realize the years are passing, even though the days are long.

April 30—Well, we had our try at a Junior-Senior banquet. Next year we'll be able to appreciate the one given us—what time we didn't spend in preparing for this occasion, we spent in the darkest corners of the campus with a flashlight. . . . Yes, just doing a little detective work on the side. Where is that crook?

May—And now our Junior year is drawing to a close. Commencement is almost here. When next we enter these walls, we'll be Seniors! . . . And our Junior year will always be accompanied by the past tense.

THE SOPHOMORE STUNT

Part of Maw Spudd's back yard was propped against a piano and another part was in a colloidal state amidst a bed, six feet of beauty shop, and a sigh, THIN ICE. A stuffed form, an axe, a rose trellis, an anemic looking pulpit, and a rusty lantern were strown around.

Herman Beanblossom nervously wiped off his mustache and started another, making Paw Daniels hold the mirror for him at a bewitching angle.

Maw Spudds ungracefully whipped up her skirts and ran down the steps telling everybody you couldn't see she was barefooted anyway so why couldn't she wear shoes?

Three of the Dancers, one String Bander, and Sound Effects helped each other haul out the churn, put up curtains, and build the back-doorsteps. Everybody else dashed around and asked how long before we'd start and did somebody get the bicycle?

Eudora bustled around cheerfully swallowing hair pins and the last portion of the one copy of the Stunt whilst she assisted Pearly Buttons in arranging her anatomy—or something.

Uncle Zeke and the Gossips made a lot of noise moving the house and a few trees.

A restless uneasiness came upon everybody. Why didn't we begin?

The curtain rose. People backstage prayed. Big Boy Beanblossom beat his chest and breathed with vigor. Eudora dug her toe in the ground. Maw Spudd was very convincing in her argument for the new-fangled contraption the city slicker brought. Paw Spudd spat. (With sound effects!)

The square dance went with gusto! Uncle Zeke called the figures.

Paw Daniels brought his shotgun, but his anger was appeased by being sold a bustle for his own Pearly Buttons. Eudora was at last off to New York on the bicycle—built-for-two with Herman, who represented Ketch 'Em, Bind 'Em, and Hold 'Em Bustle Mfg. Co., and there always to live happily.

It was hard to believe the Stunt was over! The worst thing was the suspense at the presentation! Everybody tried to prepare herself by saying over and over again, "Oh, we didn't win!" but a hopefulness still kept oozing out. And then—and then it was over! The man had finished his speech and Sue had gone down to receive the cup! The Sophomores had won!

A FRESHMAN'S STORY

(With Apologies to Lewis Carroll)

Freshman," said the Gryphon, "this here reporter she wants for to know the history of your class, she do."

"I'll tell it to her," said the freshman, with a grin. "Sit down, both of you, and don't speak a word until I've finished."

So they sat down and the Freshman began to talk immediately.

"Once," said the Freshman with a chuckle, "we were real personages, seniors in high school. We went to school on week days, but never on Saturdays, and then we came off to college."

"I've been to college, too," said the Gryphon. "You needn't be so proud of that."

"With extras?" said the Freshman a little anxiously.

"Certainly."

"And dating?"

"Certainly not," said the Gryphon indignantly.

"Then yours wasn't really a good school," said the Freshman in a tone of great relief. "Now at Meredith they have at the end of the catalogue, French, Music and dating, extra."

"You couldn't have wanted it much," said the reporter.

"I couldn't afford it so I took only the main course. At the beginning of the year we had two hard lessons—Matriculation and Handbooks, and we had to learn a long poem called All Five Verses of the Alma Mater. Those were very hard. It was all very puzzling anyway. On classes we had to keep reminding ourselves that we had really had the best of education in high school, and trying to remember the things we used to know. For instance, in that class where we studied Carlyle's Heroes and Hero Worship, the teacher kept saying, 'What's the use of repeating that stuff if you can't explain it as you go along?'"

"You'd ought to have been ashamed of yourself for being so simple," growled the Gryphon in a very superior manner.

"I'm not simple now! When I don't know the lesson I just say, 'Of course, of course, I was just going to remark that myself, that makes me—'"

"That's enough about lessons," the Gryphon interrupted in a very decided tone. "Tell her about games now."

"There was one we played that was fun for the enemies. It was called Soph Day Off. The Sophomores could make us do anything they wanted us to, so we had to wear everything backwards—even our hats, and we had to brush our teeth on the dining hall porch and admit that we were worms. Everybody yelled and I never was so ordered about in my life—never!"

"Oh, didn't you ever win and get to do some ordering?" asked the Gryphon curiously.

"Oh, surely we—"

Suddenly the sound of the dinner bell was heard in the distance and without waiting for the slightly confused freshman to finish her sentence, the Gryphon took the reporter by the hand and hurried off.

Song of the Astrotektons

See thy children, Mother Astro,

Sisters of the gold and white,

Bow before thee in thy beauty,

Thankful for thy wondrous light.

Now we bring our girlhood treasures,

And we lay them at thy feet—

Waiting for thy benediction

And thy bidding, always sweet.

Astro, Mother Astro,

From the mountains to the sea;

Astro, Mother Astro,

We have come in love and gladness to be led by thee.

Now we feel thy bands upon us,

Hands so loving and so strong,

That the touch fills every daughter

With a purpose and a song.

Lift your heads, ye Astro maidens,

Look into her starlit eyes,

Then go forth to life and duty,

With a zeal that never dies!

Astro, Mother Astro,

With a love that grows not old;

Astro, Mother Astro,

See us rally 'round thy banner,

dear old white and gold.

Philaretia

*Behold in shining raiment dressed,
She stands; in silence bow,
High honor sits upon her breast;
A white flame blazes in her breast,
And stars upon her brow.*

*Look up and listen while she speaks,
In solemn tones and slow,
She points to radiant mountain peaks,
Where morn reveals her first gray streaks
To weary souls below.*

*She calls us to her house of light
Beneath her azure dome;
"Come, daughters, walk with me in white
Above the glooming realms of night;
Build here your highland home.*

*"Let virtue feed her vestal fire
Within each holy fane.
Let fearless Truth with flaming ire
Consume the breath of base desire,
And rule without a stain."*

*Lead on, O Philaretia fair,
Lead upward day by day;
Thy violet banner in the air,
Thy daughters all will highly dare;
Brave mother, lead the way.*

A T H L E T I C S

Many changes in the organization of the Athletic Association have taken place during the year 1934-'35. The Association has as leaders not only the major officers but fourteen other students who direct the different sports and activities. This combined group forms the athletic board. The activities have been planned so that girls are able to participate in all types of sports. A strong interest in the class team and varsity team, as well as in individual ability, has been characteristic of the year's work. Hockey, basketball, baseball, and tennis constitute the major sports; soccer, golf, ping-pong, bicycling, swimming, and hiking, the minor sports.

Every year there is, between the classes, wholesome fun in the struggle for the hockey and basketball cups; and each year there is a growth of class spirit in preparation for the annual stunt night sponsored by the Association. This year, especially, keen competition and class spirit have been shown in the contest for each of these awards. The Association also recognizes individual ability, as well as group cooperation by presenting a monogram to the girl who has earned eight hundred points by participating in the various sports. A hockey stick is awarded by the Junior Class to the best all-round hockey player of the Freshman team; small loving cups are presented to the girls winning the team's championships in singles and doubles; and the Victory Trophy is presented to Meredith's best all-round sports woman.

During the past year, the Athletic Association became a member of the United States Field Hockey Association and the Athletic Federation of College Women. The Meredith Athletic Association was represented at the sectional meeting of the latter organization held in Greensboro, North Carolina, during March 21-23. In November, about twenty-six of the girls attended the Playday Program at the University of North Carolina. The rain, on this particular day, caused a change in the program; however, everyone enjoyed the novel experience!

Viewing the preceding years of athletic work at Meredith, we see that steps of growth and progress have marked each year. It is the desire of all who have had a part in this development to see progress continue!

HOCKEY

The 1934 hockey season went off with a biff! The freshmen had thirty-four out at the beginning of the season, the sophomores had sixteen, the juniors had twelve, alas, alack, the seniors had no hockey team! Harriet Rose was awarded a hockey stick by the junior class as being the most outstanding freshman player. The sophomores won the championship, 2-1.

BASEBALL

"Batter up!" That's the word that gives us a thrill in the spring. Nothing makes us feel better than to make a "home run" on a sunny afternoon, even though it is hot! Baseball, on the campus this year, was a live wire.

BASKETBALL

Teams—teams—teams—and all of them basketball! Class, society, dormitory, town girls, faculty and even fat girls' and thin girls' teams had to be organized to take care of all who, this year, felt the urge to shoot a goal or two. The choosing of the regular varsity team at the end of the season brought to a close one of the most successful years of basketball at Meredith.

TENNIS

Good courts and a good coach! Nothing more was needed to make the girls reach for their tennis racquets. And how they used them! The champions had to down some mighty stiff competition before they got those cups for keeps.

SOCCER

Rah, for Soccer! Only those girls participated who made neither hockey nor basketball varsity squads. This was our first attempt at this sport and interest was in the boom! (You see, it's the nearest girls can get to football!)

GOLF

Golf—our infant sport! But, as becomes an infant, entirely lively! Every girl who so desired was given golf instructions, and we modestly assert that those who did would do honor to the most snobbish of country clubs' links.

SWIMMING

Those unbearably hot schooldays in early fall and late spring found us diving into the clear, cold water at Carroll's pool. What a relief from dull lessons and scorching weather.

HORSEBACK RIDING

Horseback riding was enjoyed by a score of girls this year. Each Friday afternoon a group of Meredith riders was always to be found cantering along the picturesque bridle paths at Carolina Pines!

ARCHERY

As keen as the points of the arrows themselves was the interest shown in archery. Our team has not as yet reached the height of its fame, but we have great hopes for the future. The most prominent archers yet to appear are Bill Yost, Dot Prevost, and Anne Poteat!

MINOR SPORTS

Sports to the right of us—sports to the left of us—sports in front of us—volleyed and thundered! The minor sports this year were as numerous as they were exciting. With volley ball, croquet, ping-pong, bicycling, and tumble hiking it was practically impossible to escape some form of recreation.

LOOKING TO THE FUTURE

When you entered upon your college career as a student at Meredith you did so in accordance with a definite plan you had fixed for your future. Each year has marked another step toward the realization of your ambition; and now that you have completed your course of training you will go forth to enjoy the rewards which are yours for having achieved your purpose.

A still greater pleasure awaits you—that of building a happy home. That, too, will be achieved step by step, and, in the final analysis, an all-electric home will be the reward.
